THE INFIRMARY.—The Alexandria Infirmary was opened to the public for inspection yesterday evening, the adnoct to the building having been comto five o'clock, and numbers availed themselves of the opportunity to visit it. The guests assembled in the hall after the inspection had be n made and after all had expressed their made and after all had expressed their made and after all had expressed their admiration of the building Rev. Mr. Ball then, on behalf of the ladies who have labored indefatigably in building the annex, formally turned the building over to Mr. Worth Hul-fish, one of the trustees. The latter, receiving the same, made some appro-priate and well-timed remarks, in which he alluded to the labor of love which the ladies conducting the Infirmary had exhibited in the work they had so nobly undertaken and so sucly prosecuted.

the latirmary has for some years an honored Alexandria institution, and its benefits are being felt and appreciated more and more every day. As it stands now three buildings have metically been converted into one-he old Alexandria Orphan Asylum, he school building and the Widows' Home having been merged into one nd roomy structure. By his metamorphosis the facilities of the Infirmary have been greatly enlarged, and its mission of mercy and useful-ness will be more sensibly felt than

In the new building are the following rooms: First floor—the G. H. and Catharine Smoot ward, three cots, furnished and supplied with every conveni-ence by Mrs. K. U. Taylor; the M. E. Church South ward, one cot, furnished and kept up by the congregation of the Southern Methodist Church; the Albert Fairfax ward, three cots, furnished in most luxurious style by the Young Men's Guild of Christ Church and other young men of the city who were induced to become interested in the Inrmary through the exertions of Miss Kate Stuart; dining room, kitchen, pautry, bath rooms, &c. Second floor-the Eleemosynary Society ward, two cots; the N. V. D. Mason ward; the Children's ward, four cots, endowed by various children's societies and most prettily and attractively furnished, and the Rev. G. A. Smith ward, furnished by Christ Church Circle, bath rooms, linen presses, &c. A handsome window in memory of the late Miss Julia Johns, the founder of the Infirmary, has been placed so as to light the hall and stairay in the new building. The old building too has been renovated, re-painted and repaired and is now truly ornament to the city. The work has been done under the supervision of Messrs, P. B. Hooe, J. T. Burke and W. Hulfish, the building committee of the trustees, who spent much time and gave the work much attention. Mr. Glenn Brown was the architect and the builders were Mr. Joseph Rodgers and the late Mr. Wm. Gibson. The buildings are now being fitted with furnaces, oc., and will be made thoroughly com-fortable for the winter. The next work to be done is to renew the fencing and improve the grounds. The Infirmary is now in charge of Miss Adams, the efficient matron, whose aim is to make all the inmates f the institution as comfortable and happy as possible. MR. CUVILLIER REPRIMANDED.-A Mr. CUVILLIER REPRIMANDED.—A Washington paper says: "Louis A. Cuvillier is a young lawyer who came from Virginia about three weeks ago and began practice before the police courts here. He has had an unusual number of clients. Yesterday the charge was brought before Judge Kim bell that Chvillier was not walking in ball that Cuvillier was not walking in the straight and narrow way professionally; that is, he was accused of soliciting clients and of having had more access to prisoners than other attorneys. Af-ter evidence had been taken showing that Cuvillier had represented himself as a prisoner's attorney and that the accused had subsequently called for accused had subsequently caned for Mr. Sillers as his attorney, Assistant District Attorney Pugh and Lawyer Moss argued the case at considerable length. Judge Kimball said "capping" was a very grievous offense and that he and Judge Miller had united to make practice before the police court as homewhat the control to the court in the orable as before any other court in the District. It was not so considered at present, chiefly because some people thought that the poorer classes came there, and that they were simply dupes to be skinned by legal gentlemen. Mr. Pugh said that the members of the bar were all pronounced in declaring against "capping," but when a case came to trial they were found siders with the defendant. Lawyer Moss took decided exception to this statement, as it reflected upon himself. He had fought more cases of that kind, probably, than any man present, but believed > STRUCK BY A TRAIN.—A buggy containing Mr. Henry C. Mockabee and Mr. Wm. H. Lacy, both of Washing ton, was struck at the intersection of Favette and Oronoco streets at thirteen minutes past eleven o'clock this morning by a south-bound Richmond train. The horse attached to the buggy was thrown sixty feet and instantly killed, the buggy demolished and the occupants knocked about twenty feet. Minutely and the standard of the standard o raculous as it may seem, neither of the gentlemen was killed, though both were much hurt. Mr. Mockabee's left leg was cut and bruised and his head somewhat injured. Mr. Lacy's right leg was cut and he sustained other injuries. They were picked up and conveyed to the residence of Mr. A. H.

> Travis and Dr. Jones summoned. The later soon arrived and made both men as comfortable as possible. They talk-ed freely for a while, but in about an hour's time began to grow restless, and complained of inward pain. Later they sank into a sort of stupor. The injur-ed men were taken to their homes in Washington in a private conveyance this evening. Messrs, Mockabee and Lacy were employed in erecting a building on the site of the Engelhardt brewery in West End. They had driven over from Washington and were pro-ceeding in a westerly direction when struck by the train. They had passed the residence of Mr. W. A. Smoot and the high wall which surrounds the grounds hid the approaching train. They are positive they heard neither bell nor whistle nor anything else to warn them of their danger. Mr. Mockabee is a contracting carpenter and Mr. Lacy a plasterer.

A WATER BATTLE AND FIGHT.—Af-ter the fire in the house near the jail had been extinguished yesterday evening those having charge of the Hy-draulion pipe threw water on certain members of the Columbia company. It is claimed by the first named company that the act was the result of an acci-dent, though it was construed by the Columbia company into a deliberate at-tempt to wet its members and those having charge of the pipe of that en-gine retaliated by turning the water on the Hydraulion, wetting the apparatus, the engineer and driver. Angry words followed and a fight ensued between two young men, members of the rival companies, but neither was much burt. During the excitement somebody threw a brick. This morning the parties engaged in the row were brought before Mayor Strauss, who, after listening to the testimony, most of which was by no means conclusive, reprimanded and discharged them all. Chief Engineer Warfield was not at the fire, he being

I beg to call your attention to a few facts. First, however, I wish to ask how we are to keep up home industries unless we give such industries the first chance to furnish us what we want in their line. Where does the meney come from to make improvements and maintain the business firms and houses of the city? Surely it is not from the peddlers at a agents who come here and in one way or another axoid rawing a license, while we have other avoid paying a license, while we have other avoid paying a license, while we have to pay a heavy license, taxes, rents, insurance, water tax, &c.
